The Self-Service Business Option

Skillsoft's Global Compliance Solutions delivers an online training site dedicated to the professional food safety and alcohol services industry. With a key focus on self-service options, our site provides small businesses the tools necessary to deliver compliance training through a newly developed interface.

Small Business Training & Certification Programs

Skillsoft's compliance based training site addresses business owners needs by providing single-learner, or multi-learner employee training options. By leveraging the Skillsoft training site your employees will receive the same up-to-date content accredited and approved by regulatory authorities, and utilized by top national brands.

It's flexibility at its finest

Promote a variety of training options including: employee self-service and company-paid training options. Each of these choices offers single-user or multi-user purchasing options. Be confident your employees are receiving the superior level of training they deserve with our proven methodology and course design. With Skillsoft's Global Compliance Solutions, our goal is to provide solutions best designed to meet your organization's training needs.

Compliance Training Advantages

Our site options include a comprehensive backend that is supported by Skillsoft's reliable learning platform, an easy-to-use user interface and scalable solutions which allow you to buy as you grow.

Skillsoft's Online Training Programs provide your company with the ability to offer online web-based training courses through a company-paid or employee-paid service model. Our compliance-driven retail partnerships help empower a compliance-based training model that ensures your employees meet local and state regulatory requirements necessary to work in the food and alcohol services industry.

Basic Workforce Adoption

Our training site platform provides an easy and dependable certification process that makes training employees quick, painless and effective. Employees simply enroll online, learn at their own pace, pass the exam and print a certificate of completion.

- Promote employee training with a culture centered on minimizing business risks and the exposure your organization faces when safeguarding public health and safety, all while meeting regulatory standards.

- Implement an internal certification process by providing employees access to training and ensuring necessary food safety compliance requirements are met by each staff member.
